On 20 September, the entrance to the field on Priorter Strasse was open and unguarded. At 11:30 a.m., two railroad tank cars were shunted to the field and parked near the fuel dump. Only little activity was observed near the quarters.

- 6. At 10:45 a.m. on 20 September, about 150 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed in the northern emplacement of the two AA gun emplacements located at the western edge of the field. Five officers and 1 soldier with red flags apparently for giving signs to aircraft were also observed there. At 11:10 a.m., a total of about 225 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 8 officers lined up in platoons at the same emplacement. One officer gave orders. Two sedans were parked nearby. 1. Comment. It is believed that no flying unit is presently stationed at Deeberitz airfield, but that the AA gun emplacements northwest and southwest of the field are still occupied by 37-mm AA guns. Lieutenant Colonel Kazavitski is the commanding efficer of the ground unit of the ground attack regiment, which transferred from Doctoritz to Brandenburg in late May 1953. Lieutenant Colonel Prokhodosev was previously reported as chief of the repair shops at Doeberitz in which jet power plants were overhauled.

50X1-HUM

Comment. A supply headquarters and a repair agency of the Ground Attack Corps as well as a repair shop for jet engines are believed to be stationed at the artillery equipment park. Grates of the size mentioned were reported previously.
They probably contain jet engines. Auditor Hushnykh was previously reported from the artillery equipment park.
